

ANDE 2022 West Africa Conference: media coverage

PARM Urges For The Institutionalisation ARM Into National Agricultural Policies, Strategies & Investments

Headlines / August 2, 2022 / By Editor

The Platform for Agricultural Risk Management (PARM) was delighted to be part of the Aspen Network of Development Entrepreneurs, ANDE 2022 Regional Conference sponsors. The conference was held from 19 to 20 July 2022 in Accra, Ghana. The event was a great opportunity for PARM to promote Capacity Development in Agricultural Risk Management (ARM) at regional level, and also to promote gender mainstreaming as an ARM tool as well as how ARM can support climate action initiatives.

PARM urges for Agricultural Risk Management to fight climate change

The Platform for Agricultural Risk Management (PARM) was delighted to be part of the Aspen Network of Development Entrepreneurs, ANDE 2022 Regional Conference sponsors. The conference was held from 19 to 20 July 2022 in Accra, Ghana.

The event was a great opportunity for PARM to promote Capacity Development in Agricultural Risk Management (ARM) at regional level, and also to promote gender mainstreaming as an ARM tool as well as how ARM can support climate action initiatives.

On 19 July 2022, PARM held a session on "Policy Dialogue: Climate Finance and Risk Management for African Agriculture" addressing the importance of Capacity Development on ARM with a holistic perspective, and the role of Capacity Development in de-risking investment in agriculture and rural development sector.

Ghana News Agency

African governments charged to institutionalise Agricultural risk management systems

That, PARM noted, would stimulate productive and sustainable investment across the food and agricultural value chain to ensure food and nutrition security, and help reduce hunger and poverty.

Mrs Francesca Nugnes, Capacity Development Specialist at PARM, said this at the just ended Aspen Network of Development Entrepreneurs (ANDE) 2022 Regional Conference in Accra.

The conference had a session on climate finance and risk management for African Agriculture and another on connecting ecosystems actors for West Africa female entrepreneurs.

BUSINESS INSIDER AFRICA

MARKETS LEADERS CAREERS LIFESTYLE

Local Leaders

PARM urges for the Institutionalisation ARM into National Agricultural Policies, Strategies & Investments

BI AFRICA | July 29, 2022 4:00 PM

Francesca from PARM

The Platform for Agricultural Risk Management (PARM) was delighted to be part of the Aspen Network of Development Entrepreneurs, ANDE 2022 Regional Conference sponsors. The conference was held from 19 to 20 July 2022 in Accra, Ghana. The event was a great opportunity for PARM to promote Capacity Development in Agricultural Risk Management (ARM) at regional level, and also to promote gender mainstreaming as an ARM tool as well as how ARM can support climate action initiatives.

Business Ag/business Headlines News Top Headlines

PARM urges institutionalisation of Agriculture Risk Management into national policies, strategies & investments

August 2, 2022

The Platform for Agricultural Risk Management (PARM) was delighted to be part of the Aspen Network of Development Entrepreneurs, ANDE 2022 Regional Conference sponsors. The conference was held from 19th to 20th July 2022 in Accra, Ghana.

The event was a great opportunity for PARM to promote Capacity Development in Agricultural Risk Management (ARM) at regional level, and also to promote gender mainstreaming as an ARM tool as well as how ARM can support climate action initiatives.

On 19 July 2022, PARM held a session on Policy Dialogue: Climate Finance and Risk Management for African Agriculture, addressing the importance of Capacity Development on ARM with a holistic perspective, and the role of Capacity Development in de-risking investment in agriculture and rural development sector.